It Will Be Okay!

Rikki's POV

I decided to sit on the sand at the beach to wait for Zane. Why should I wait for him? He really gets on my nerve. I was probably sitting in that spot for an hour when I decided to leave. On my walk home, I saw a police car near Emma's. I walked up to her driveway. "Mrs. Gilbert where's Emma?" I waited for a reply, "She's gone missing, Rikki." I was shocked. Emma; she's too goody-goody to run away. She must've gotten kidnapped. I didn't say a word. I just bolted down the Gilberts' driveway and ran to the docks where I hoped to see someone. Lewis, Cleo, Will, Bella, Zane, or even Nate to help me. Of course not a soul was there. It was getting dark, an old woman walked past me; she was wearing a long yellow dress. She was frowning, like she had no expression. I thought she'd say something to me. But she didn't. I followed her; I was thinking she might have been blind or deaf. I trailed behind her to I reached to end of Dock A. I stopped; I was planning to ask what in hell she thought she was doing. She couldn't have been rich. Until, she climbed on a boat and unlocked the door to the cabin. The boat's name was "A Mermaid Tail" I was totally flabbergasted I had to know more about her. It was pitch black and I couldn't see a thing. "I thought you'd follow me, Rikki" I turned to see her behind me. I screamed and jumped into the water. I swam as fast as I could to Mako. No more exploring! I felt a sigh of relief once I entered the cave to the moon pool. I knew who ever that girl was wouldn't be here. I folded my hands and thought why she was there that late. Or even how she knew my name, though I've never met her. If I had I'd remember her coal black hair and her yellow dress, her eyes that glow. But I begun to feel like this was a dream. I remembered Emma's disappearance. Had that old woman had something to do with it? No. She was all old and weird. That's probably a clue. I needed to find Emma and find out more about her. I swam fast out of the cave. I dried myself and ran back to the docks. I saw a flash of blonde teenage Emma hair. I bolted over to the boat in which I had saw the woman and screamed, "Who in the hell are you and what do you want with Emma!" Sure enough, as if right on cue, the woman came out and said, "Rikki? Why such foul attitude? Can't we be friends?" I laughed and said, "Never, where is she?" The lady laughed that's when I got a sudden rush. This woman was a witch. "Emma? Never heard of her; she got closer to me. "Get away from me." I stated. I backed into a box, a black box. It had an address on it. Then, before I got a hold of it, she pushed me down. "Mind to join your friend? She tied a huge black rope around my waist and my legs and arms. Then she shoved me hard into the water. I was going to drown. I shock all over. That's when I realized this was no joke. This woman was all real. She was set out to kill me. To kill all of us associated with mermaids. This meant everyone. Cleo, Bella, Will, Zane, Emma, Me, Lewis, and Ash. I couldn't just lie here. I struggled for a minute, when I swore I heard something getting pushed on the dock. I looked up to see a black box coming straight down on top of me.

Hey everyone its me Melissa and I decided to make a book. I really hope you love it!
